Foreword from the President

To the Members of the 22nd Battalion Association, 1st A.I.F.
Gentlemen,

Once again it is my good fortune and privilege to address to you all a message of Good-will through this, our 54th issue of the Battalion "Echo", an echo we have heard, however dimly, over the past 60 years; and now a Diamond Jubilee echo.

The pity of it is that with each passing year fewer of us are able to hear it, and we learn, with regret, of the passing of respected members of our Battalion. On the other hand, we are aware that each of them leaves behind the legacy of his and loving families who will keep their memory green and shining.

Some like will come again shortly be upon us, when we hope to see as many of you as possible, at this Memorial Service. Whether or not, and whatever you may be, within the State, interstate or overseas, please accept the sincere wishes of your Committee for a fine of pleasant recollection of past years and memories and each time privileged to share one with the other.

We recognise that for our long lives we must be grateful to the Almighty; that we have survived so many years, whatever may be the state of our health. We have undoubtedly, lived through the most interesting and progressive decades of human life, actually from home power to jet power.

Since our last issue of the "Echo" our Secretary, Fred, and Mrs. Russell have been abroad when they visited our old battlefields in France and Belgium, and of which Fred gave us a most interesting review at the September Reunion last year. We hope you enjoy reading it in this issue of the "Echo".

Our thanks once again to Fred and Mrs. Russell. To Fred for his attention to our affairs and his willingness to "carry on", more or less indefinitely. And to Mrs. Russell for continued support, during yet another year.

Appreciation is especially expressed to our "absentee" Members who though not far away to join us in person, are most generous in their contributions to the Association funds, and which makes possible the continuity of the Battalion "Echo", with the minimum of delay to us all.

WALTER F. STURROCK

ANZAC DAY, 1978

Plans for the Anzac Day March will be the same as last year's. We meet in front of the Metropolitan Gas Company's offices at 171 Flinders Street, at 9 a.m. The march will commence at 10 a.m.

As many, as possible, of our members are requested to be at the J.C.T. around 9 a.m. so that we can make the most of the short period together. Unfortunately, our quota of marching members is dwindling but this is due, no doubt, to the ages of our fellows. But as long as it is physically possible our unit will take its allotted place in the march. The Commemoration Council which conducts the march is anxious to retain 1st A.I.F. members in the march and every unit of that Force is expected to have a representative party in order to carry on the tradition of "Anzac".

ANNUAL REUNION

We have to accept that our members are all in the "aged and mellow" stage and attendance at social functions such as reunions is now more honoured in spirit than in participation. That was demonstrated at our last reunion on 28th September 1977 attended by a token force but the reunion spirit predominated. However our absentee members responded as generously as ever and all of them conveyed the spirit of "esprit de battalion", by their expressions of regret at non-attendance and all carried greetings to old comrades. It is evident that the Association is a very strong link amongst our members and the committee is quite prepared to carry on indefinitely. The "Echo" is another link and from comments of members it is very much appreciated and its continuance essential. The Hon. Secretary is of the same opinion and prepared to continue its annual publication.

Our 1978 Reunion will be held in September and members will be advised in due course of the date and place.

On the Somme, 1977

Last year Fred Russell achieved a long deferred desire to visit again the battle area of the Somme and to see the places with which we were so closely associated in 1918 and later. He and Mrs. Russell flew by Qantas to Rome and then on to United Kingdom and later to France.

But a few comments on London in 1977 are part of the tour. London is now a bohemian, teeming with overseas visitors and traffic a continuing hazard. Naturally I sought out Horseley Road but that street has now been reduced to one small portion, still bearing the name "Horseley Road". Some of the out-fits shops are still there but no longer purveyors of A.I.F. uniforms and other items, but still trading in clothing of sorts.

The War Chest Club has become a business house and the old A.I.F. H.Q. defunct.

After a short tour of Scotland and then Ireland we flew to Paris and then train to Amiens where we were resident for three days in Hotel Carlton-Belmont, a very modern hotel of seven stories. Pierre Werrett, Roly's son, came up from Paris to be our guide around the Somme area. His guidance made our tour complete, for he had lived most of his life in Berteaucourt where his mother and brother still reside. Mrs. Werrett accompanied us on the first day's tour.

We put in Saturday and Sunday traversing the area and that was a marked contrast to when we covered the Somme area by "march route". Our first stop was at Villers Bertemesnil where we visited the War Memorial and cemetery. The memorial is in the form of an arc wall, about 20 feet high on which is inscribed the names and units of all men killed in that area. Time did not allow a full inspection but I did find a long list of 22nd men including Major McKay, Captain Currow and Dick Newton, the latter was killed within a foot of me on 29th July, 1918. The memorial list includes all men killed in the Somme area although not buried in the V.B. cemetery. The whole area is kept in first class order with lawns, lots of flowers and shrubs. The War Graves Commissioner for that area, Mr. J. E. Harris, lives in a modern house at the cemetery.

We then drove to the Mont St. Quentin and saw the new memorial there. The original monument was of an Australian soldier bayonetting a German eagle, executed by the late Webb Gilbert, and a wonderful example of statuary but the Fritz's in World War II destroyed it to recover the bronze and left the plinth standing. The new statue is of an Australian in battle order and wearing the slouch hat, in order to distinguish the man it commemorates. The statue was done by a sculptor in East Malvern and I had seen it during its construction. The statue stands in the centre of Mont St. Quentin at the highest point of the mount, now a thriving township, with no indication at all of its condition at the time of its capture by the 6th Brigade in August 1918. We drove on through Peconne and back to V. B. for lunch at a top grade restaurant in the main street. It was an experience to have such a meal in what, in our war recollections, was just a mass of rubble and destruction.

Pozieres was our next stop and we visited the Windmill site, now just a fenced in area of about an acre, bought by the Australian Government and to remain our property in perpetuity. The wooden gate, bearing the Australian coat of arms, admits to the site now a grass covered mound on which is mounted a stone plaque commemorating the battles of 1916 and that on this site most Australians were killed in any one action in the whole war. Pozieres is now completely restored with houses and shops on both sides of the Bapaume road and no indication at all of its war time destruction. Time did not allow a close inspection and I was unable to locate "Gibraltar". It may have been removed in the general restoration.

Bapaume Road is now a first class motorway with trees on either side up to 60 feet in height. I was not able to identify the Route de Watercourt as all that countryside is now taken up with lawn properties. Bapaume is now a thriving town with the Town Hall, apparently undamaged, in its original position.

Our second day's tour took us to Villers Bertemesnil again where we met the members of the Franco-Australian Welcome Committee, Mrs. L. Rinet, President, and Mr. J. E. Harris, Secretary/Interpreter and were given a most cordial welcome, and shown around the museum which contains a good collection of war relics recovered in that area. This museum adjoins the school which was built with funds subscribed by the school children of Villers to replace the one destroyed in World War I. An obelisk existed in the school grounds commemorating this, and also that the township of V.B. was recaptured from the German forces on 25th April 1918 by the A.I.F. - 15th Brigade.

Naturally, I was most interested to see in the museum my A.I.F. uniform which I had donated so it in 1975. Since 1918 that uniform had been kept in my garage and it had not deteriorated with time nor had the moths mutilated it.

We had a tour of the town now completely restored with one partly wrecked building at one time a hospital, retained in its battle scarred condition as a relic of World War I. We visited the "Doll's House", the last building on the eastern edge of the town, on the Harbonaires Road. The house is intact and habited, but bears the scars of war. The J.O.T. of the 8th August 1918 was only a few yards from this house and an obelisk on the roadside at this spot commemorates that occasion.

Our visit to V.B. was complete. M. and Mme. Rinet invited us to their home for morning refreshments. We passed through Albert where the wrecked church has been restored and the "Leaning Virgin" replaced at the top of the spire, but now in normal placement. Then on to Vignacourt, Bellefleur sur Somme to Berteaucourt where Mrs. Werrett and her family had assembled for a special lunch in our honour. A press reporter of the Amiens paper attended specially to interview me and that was indeed a distinction. After lunch we made a visit to Roly's grave in the local church graveyard. Roly died in 1976.

Pierre Werrett drove us back to Paris, a journey of 110 kilometers, mostly on an expressway, which was covered in one and a half hours. The district on that side of Paris is crammed with huge high-rise tenements, up to 40 stories and extended for some miles. Indicative of the population density of Paris.

Soixante Années Nuptials

JAMES H. BENNETT (Lt.) - suffered considerable head injuries at Bullecourt on 3rd May, 1917 and was evacuated, temporarily blinded. The result was that he lost the sight of his left eye and he spent some time at St. Dunstan's Hospital in London where the sight of his right eye was restored and eventually he was invalided to Australia early in 1918. However his sight was restored to allow him to return to the Education Department and he was posted Sports Master at Stawell High School where he was stationed for some years. During that period he was elected, at the age of 30, President of the Stawell Athletic Club which conducts the running of the Stawell Gift every Easter Monday. He has the record of being the youngest ever President of that body.

In the course of his career with the Education Department he had been posted to other High Schools at Husham, Box Hill, Sale, Wangaratta, Vice-Principal at Mildura and Principal at Ringwood from which he retired in May, 1958. During his tenure at Sale, during World War II, he was gartered Lt. Colonel and C.O. of the 13th Battalion, V.D.C., East Gippsland Regiment.

Jim has also been active in R.S.L. affairs having served 9 separate terms as President of Stawell, Box Hill (2 years), Sale (5 years) and Wangaratta Sub-Branches respectively and in 1932-33 was a member of the State Executive. But apart from his record in two wars and educational appointments he has a much more personal distinction for on 15th April, 1978 he and Mrs. Bennett celebrated their Diamond Wedding Anniversary. Regressing a bit into history we learn that on 15th April, 1918 at Holy Trinity Church of England in Bacchus March he married Muriel Bence of Armadale and they established their first domicile in Stawell where Jim was then stationed. In the course of time they raised a family of three daughters the eldest of whom has just retired as Principal of the Whitehorse Technical College, the second is the wife of a farmer in North-East Victoria and the third is married and living in Sydney.

Jim and Mrs. Bennett now reside in Mont Albert and their family comprises 8 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren.

NORVAL H. DOOLEY, (Pat) — joined the battalion in June, 1917 direct from a Cadet Course at Oxford, after having served in the 2nd Casualty Clearing Station in France. Included in that Cadet School were L. R. Speak, also from the 2nd C.E.S. and Keith Sutherland from the 22nd. In due course they all qualified for their commissions and were posted to the 22nd Battalion, in June, 1917. He was badly wounded at Broadmeade in October, 1917 and invalided back to Australia.

Prior to enlistment he had had an outstanding academic record having qualified in Law, Theology and Education. In December, 1917 he was married at Oxford to Sister Haynes, A.A.N.S., who had served at Lemnos Island during the Gallipoli campaign and was then with the A.A.N.S. in England.

On return to Australia Pat decided to take up law practice and continued in that profession until his retirement in 1970. He established his own practice in Queen Street which was eventually carried on by his son, David. Amongst his honorary appointments were Hon. Trustee to the Shrine Trustees and a Fellow of the Royal Australian Chemical Institute. He was, for many years the Legal Officer of the S.E.C. and in that position he collaborated with his war-time associate, Keith Sutherland who was Engineer and Manager for Victoria. On 11th December, 1977 Pat and Mrs. Dooley celebrated their Diamond Wedding Anniversary and their own family of seven has now expanded to sixteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

OBITUARIES

511 SIDNEY A. KOHN — passed away on 14th September 1977 after a prolonged state of incapacity following a stroke which left him bereft of the power of speech, although his other faculties were quite good. Until the last few weeks Sid was able to move about but unable to venture out alone. His wife, Dorothy cared for him and was a perfect supporter. At one stage Dorothy brought him to a committee meeting and it was on record that Sid seconded a motion by nodding his head. Sid was one of the ever-present members of the battalion and two incidents in his war experiences were recorded in last "Echo".

During the final months of the war he was canteen sergeant in close liaison with his O.C., Lt. C. W. Hutton and those two were just as meticulous in their department as were the "Q" staff of H. Q. under the superintendance of Capt. T. Miles and R.Q.M.S. Reg Hawkins. In civil life Sid was an outside man representing over the years a number of firms chiefly in the hardware trade. His brother Jack, with whom he enlisted on 15th March 1915 also gave unbroken continuous service with the battalion, and died on 8th August 1975.

2008 ROY SMITH — of the Grange, Brisbane died on 25th December 1977. Roy had been badly wounded at Pozieres and lost his left leg and was invalided back to Australia. He joined the Repatriation Department in Melbourne but transferred to the Queensland Branch and served there until his retirement. Despite his disablement Roy continued an active life and he and Mrs. Smith enjoyed a large range of social activities in that area, both having been active participants in bowls and both of them had been Presidents of their respective clubs. Roy had had numerous interstate trips with a team representing Queensland in interstate competition.

388 LES. C. GUTHRIE — died in Peter McCallum Hospital on 8th December 1977. For many years Les had numerous occupations in the back areas of Western Australia and moved around that State quite a lot. For the last few years he had been located at Sandstone, population thirteen, 300 miles east of Shark Bay where he occupied every position of civil importance in that town: postmaster, census officer, inspector of pests, etc. No policeman was required. One of his near-escapes from death in the wilds of W.A. was recorded in last year's Echo. After many years of nomadic life he decided to return to his home state of Victoria where he resided with his sister, Mrs. Carpenter in Ivanhoe. However the hard life he had lived caught up with him and he found that Victoria was too cold for him and he moved up to Maroochydore where the climate suited him. But after 12 months, illness put him in "Greenalopes" in Brisbane, his condition deteriorated and Mrs. Carpenter went up to Brisbane and brought him back to Melbourne by air, and he was admitted to R.G.H. and later to Peter McCallum where he later died. Les was a batchelor but always maintained contact with the Association and had attended the last two Anzac Day marches and the reunions.

803 CYRIL F. COX — died in Glen Iris on 24th December 1977. As R.O.R. Sergeant Cyril became one of the best known members of the 22nd, his very appointment assured that. His was the responsibility for the records of the battalion — reinforcements, promotions, casualty lists, leave permits, delinquents, standing orders, routine orders, movement orders and battle orders — pay was the province of Sgt. H. W. Froome. Cyril had not aspired to the record of his predecessor No. 1148 Sgt. Monty Peart, K.I.A., at Pozieres on 30th July 1916, who was reputed to have known the regimental numbers of nearly every man in the battalion. In every respect Cyril was the ideal person for the R.O.R.S. job and he maintained that on a high plane. On return to civil life he returned to the employ of the Australian Estates and continued with that company until his retirement. In recent years his health had been such that he could not participate in our activities but his support was always assured. He is survived by Mrs. Cox, one married daughter and four grandchildren.

MANSSELL SHACKELL — our Honorary Auditor for the past 30 years died following a stroke on 24 September 1977 at the age of 73. Mans was an example of concentration on an objective for in 1939 he made repeated attempts to enlist in the forces but was turned down on medical grounds. However he persisted in his efforts to "do his bit". He tried the Comforts Fund and the Red Cross but was again unsuccessful. As he had been for years an active member of the Y.M.C.A. he managed to secure an appointment as representative of that body with the Forces. He had four years service in the Pacific area at various places and for an extended period was at Bougainville until the end of the war. His service with the Forces was recognised by the R.S.L. and he was a member of the Melbourne Sub-Branch. He was an accountant by profession and succeeded his father in the firm of Shackell & Son. At one time the late Harold Rodda was temporarily a member of that firm. He is survived by Mrs. Shackell and two daughters.

KEITH SUTHERLAND - died at his home in Camberwell on 19th March 1878. Keith had a meritorious career with the S.E.C. and after some years in charge of the Gippsland area was promoted to Engineer and Manager for Victoria from which position he retired in 1965. He had been a member of the committee from 1920 to 1926 and had always very generously supported the Association in its activities. He is survived by Mrs. Sutherland and a son, now a doctor in London and a married daughter.

PERSONAL REFERENCES

MR. MARK BIRDWAY - N.G. Service - Was badly wounded at La Chappel de Semeriville in May, 1915, both legs broken and invalided back to Australia. Joined the Commonwealth Public Service in 1919 and posted to Expropriation Board as New Guinea taking over ex-German plantations in N.G. and Admiralty Islands. Returned to Australia in 1921 and posted to P.M.G.'s Department, qualified as accountant and in 1937 transferred to the Nauru Administration as Accountant, Chief Clerk and a multitude of minor responsibilities. The Administration had obtained some machine guns and Lewis guns for local defence but had no one to train the staff in handling them, so Mark became the instructor of a number of young engineers and technicians from the British Phosphate Commission.

In 1940 the German cruiser Komoro shelled the island and sank 5 phosphate ships but was later sunk by the Sydney. On the outbreak of World War II the Australian Government sent up two 18-pounders to be manned by existing personnel. At that time all women and children were evacuated and in 1941 the Japanese started dropping bombs on the island but with little damage and no casualties. In 1942 the French cruiser Typhon arrived in the harbour to evacuate all Europeans and some hundreds of Chinese employees of B.P., leaving behind, at their own decision, the Administrator Lt. Col. F. R. Chalmers, ex 29th Battalion, and a number of the staff. All of these persons were executed by the Japanese as was found out when the island was re-occupied in 1945 by the B.P. Administration and Commonwealth components.

On his return to Australia in 1947 Mark was appointed by Sir Gides (Departmental Director of War Reparation of Liability) as Chief Inspector of Casualties and Claims in this Department and thereafter continued work in all branches of the Commonwealth, in addition he was still attending to Nauruan Affairs.

In August, 1945 he was ordered from the W.M.S. and posted back to Nauru as Administrator and a number of his staff were left in place. The party arrived in Nauru without incident. The Japanese were captured by a Japanese battery of 47 guns with some ammunition. However the Japanese commander boarded the Transporter and was killed. The total population was at a maximum and was concentrated at 4 A. Camp and others at night were at 4 B. Camp. The Japanese were captured by the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the 2nd New Zealand Division. The Japanese were captured by the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the 2nd New Zealand Division.

The Japanese were captured by the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the 2nd New Zealand Division. The Japanese were captured by the 1st and 2nd Battalions of the 2nd New Zealand Division.

Australia to be given the Trusteeship of Nauru. He gave a display of his films with his commentary to the Trusteeship Council and Dr. H. V. Evatt, who was the Australian Representative at the Council commented that it was excellent propaganda for Australia's case. Influenced, no doubt, by the display given by Mark, Australia was given the Trusteeship of Nauru.

During 1948 and 1949, the island was gradually returned to normal with the exception of housing of natives, but about that time the agitation for self determination for the island started and which was subsequently acquired in 1970. Mark retired from the Commonwealth Service in 1951 and has been a resident of Burleigh Heads, Queensland for the last 16 years indulging his hobby, fishing, to the full.

776 BERNARD A. BAKER, now 84 - Joined the battalion at its inception in Broadmeadows and after service on Gallipoli with "D" company continued on until he was badly wounded at Poziers and evacuated. On recovery he, being a baker by trade, was transferred to the 5th Field Bakery at Rosset and served there until the armistice. In March, 1919 he was married in Brighton, England, his wife being at that time a member of the W.A.A.C. On return to Australia he set up a bakery business in Prahran and over the years has pursued that occupation in various places. He and Mrs. Baker are now living in their home in Brighton and have a family of four with 10 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren.
