

22nd BATTALION ASSOCIATION ECHO

No 82

ANZAC DAY COMMEMORATION MARCH - 25 APRIL 2025

The 22nd Battalion Association, together with other active kindred WWI Unit Associations, will “step-off”, behind their Unit Banners, from the “start point” on the south side of Flinders St East (see map) at 10:00 AM.

The 22nd Banner will be displayed at this location at 9:00 AM to be ready for an earlier start.

Pedestrian access from Flinder’s St. Station is via a walkway under Prince’s Bridge to Federation Square and Flinders St. East.

The Flag, the Australian Nation

Veterans are heard to say, we fought under the flag. The Anzacs used the Australian national flag, the Blue Ensign proclaimed as such with the passing of the Flags Act 1953, as well as the Red Ensign and the Union Jack.

The Australian National flag

Government schools in the 1950’s practiced the “Oath: I will honour the flag, I will serve the King and cheerfully obey my parents, teachers and the law”.

In Europe in 1914, the autocratic German Kaiser’s military aggression threatened and nearly succeeded in overturning democratic freedoms. Challenged by Great Britain and allies, Australia was at war “under the flag”. The Australian Imperial Force was born and Australia became involved in a bloody conflict over four years. The consequence was the death and injury of so many Australian troops.

The casualties of the 22nd Battalion resulted in a “turnover” five times, namely 5000 casualties. These men believed the sacrifice was the price for the freedom and values, evolved from the initial colonial settlement and have evolved further to define what it is to be Australian.

The 21st century has presented challenges but also opportunities to share Australia’s bounty as has happened with welcoming migrants with a plethora of ethnic backgrounds. The challenge is their blending to the culture of their adopted country as part of the Australian Nation under the Australian Flag.

◆ EPIPHANY IN BELGIUM ◆

Driving in Belgium, south from Bruges through beautiful and flat countryside this August was different, not the excitement of seeing new places, but an emotional twist to over one hundred years ago when my father Fred Russell fought in some of the bloodiest conflicts of World War I.

My mind “switched back” to 1916 conflicts and thereafter, with my father and his 22nd Battalion mates fighting, getting wounded and dying in this area of Passchendaele, Polygon Wood, Bullecourt and Ypres.

The cemetery at Polygon Wood highlighted the extent of casualties with the row upon row of headstones bearing the “Rising Sun” badge many inscribed with, “unknown soldier of WWI”.

Dining in the Grote Markt of Ypres my mind was confronted with another time long ago, when, as recorded in his diary, my father and a few mates sheltered in the Crypt of the shell-destroyed Cathedral. He records his delight at finding this relatively warm billet after “living rough”.

This experience was, for me, an epiphany, a moment when you suddenly feel you understand or are suddenly conscious of values that are very important to you, exemplified by those of the men of the 22nd Battalion, courage, mateship and to make the ultimate sacrifice for these values.

Ian Russell

Australians in Serbia World War 1.

An estimated 165 Australian troops served with the Serbian Army including a contingent of drivers from the 6th Brigade ( 22, 23, 24, 25 Battalions), 2nd Division AIF. Instead of proceeding to Gallipoli with the Brigade, about 50 pack-drivers were attached to the 12th Irish Division dispatched to assist the Serbians on the Salonika front, retreating from the Bulgarians.

Lt F Greenway M. M. and Bar

Included in the party of 22nd men who served in this campaign was Lt. F. Greenway, M. M. and Bar, whose decorations and commission were later awarded in France. 2nd. Lieutenant (Ned) Herring M.C. D.S.O. (later Lt. Governor of Victoria), served on the Salonika front.

Three 22nd Battn. men awarded the Serbian Silver Medal were, Pte. H.G. Cook, M. M. , J/Cpl. E. C. Bridges and Pte. R Allum.

The Serbian Medal for Bravery "Milos Obilic" was established 12 July 1913 by King Peter 1 and granted to soldiers for acts of personal courage on the battlefield. There are two degrees, gold and silver. The silver medal is worn on a tricolour ribbon, red, blue and white, the colours of the Serbian flag.

Serbian Silver Medal

Following a move to Dorian, near the border of Greece and Serbia they formed a Divisional H.Q. Guard and moved to the active operational zone at Hasanti.

Their duties were varied, ranging from care and collection of mountain ponies to the guarding of Bulgarian prisoners. Winter 1915 found them at Fourk. When the Serbian retreat began the Australian party were at Dedile. Prior to orders to withdraw, their main energies were directed to assisting numerous sufferers of "frost-bite".

The normal congestion involved in a retreat was aggravated by the narrowness of the roads and tracks. Progress to the objective, the Greek border near Lake Dorain, was slow and often dangerous due to steepness of the slopes bordering the route. On one occasion only one mile and a half was traversed in eleven hours, but the party with their ponies finally crossed the frontier border. Lambeth Camp their original resting place was reached on 11 December 1915. Having completed their duties they embarked for Egypt and rejoined their respective Battalions.

View from Mount Gucevo

Gucevo, a mountain in western Serbia, holds a unique and significant place in WWI history as the site of the "Battle above the Clouds", during the Battle of Drina in 1914. The name was inspired by the extra-high altitude conditions where Serbian and Austro-Hungarian soldiers fought above mist covered valleys on Mount Gucevo in September and October 1914. Despite the overwhelming odds, the Serbian troops delayed the Austro-Hungarian advance, critical to Serbia's survival.

Ossuary Monument

Today on the summit of Gucevo is an Ossuary Monument that holds the remains of approximately 4,000 soldiers who died during the battle. Soldiers of both sides are interred, a powerful gesture of conciliation and respect for the fallen, regardless of their allegiance.

While Australians are more familiar with the Gallipoli campaign, Gucevo's battle holds striking parallels. Both involved extra-ordinary acts of courage under severe conditions, large losses, and an enduring legacy of resilience in the face of overwhelming adversity.

Visiting this monument in September 2024, I now have a deeper understanding of the Great War's impact on many Nations. As an Australian it reinforces my gratitude for the sacrifice of the "Anzacs" and men of the 22nd Battalion A.I.F. in particular.

Following the Twenty-Second

The First World War through the lives of an Australian Infantry Battalion

22nd Battalion Association

Upon their return from Europe and the Great War in 1919, the former soldiers of the 22nd Battalion met and formed the Battalion Association to keep alive the Anzac spirit and legacy of mateship that was forged on the beaches and cliffs of Gallipoli and which defined the Australian through the tough fighting in France and Belgium, and beyond. As the years have passed the legacy has now been past to the relatives of the men that fought within the Battalion, under the stewardship today of Ian Russell, son of 524 Pte Fred Russell, the Honorary Secretary of the Association from its inauguration in 1920 until his death in 1978.

Each year the Association remembers those that served and marches on Anzac Day in Melbourne. In addition the Association produces an annual newsletter entitled the '22nd Battalion Association Echo', taking the name from the publication of the same title that the Battalion produced on active service in 1918 until the troops returned home.

The Website www.anzac-22nd-battalion.com was established by Greg Stephens, grandson of "Bob" a 22nd Battalion veteran, It is a valuable source and repository for contributions/notices from/to Association members, particularly the "Collections" "drill down of the "Family" section as well as a Facebook link.

This project has now been archived in the "Pandora" project of the National Library of Australia ensuring its retention for posterity.

Pilgrimage Belgium, Villers Bretonneux/Museum and Monash Centre

The deafening silence of the WW1 battlefields is overshadowed by the emotion one experiences at these places of such horrendous conflict.

In August 2024 I drove with my wife Glenda,, from Brussels to Ypres as the starting point of a meander of the battlefields where the 22nd Battalion in particular was fighting from 1915 onwards. No one town on the “Western Front” suffered more damage than Ypres. The cellars in the convent were used as billets by the 22nd and 23rd Battalions that shared the line-work of the Brigade on this front.

Menin Gate Buglers

The Ypres Gate Memorial commemorates 54,500 British and Commonwealth soldiers who died before 16 August 1917 and have no known grave. A “Last Post” ceremony is performed by local Fire Brigade buglers every evening since 1924.

Polygon Wood and Canadian War Memorials

Pozières was the key obstacle to the capture of Moquet Farm and the Thiepval Ridge. It was the bloodiest and most costly for the 22nd Battalion that lost 33 officers and 763 men. The three Australian Divisions, serving in this sector, lost more than a third of their men.

Pozières was captured on 23 July 1916, the exhausted men being relieved by the Canadians at Moquet Farm on 5 September 1916.

Franco-Australian Museum

The Museum is located on the first floor of Victoria School at Villers Bretonneux, the turning-point of the war in 1918, was destroyed and rebuilt after largely funded by donations collected by children of Robinvale, Victoria as a bond of friendship between the people of VB and Australia.

Victoria School and Museum display

The Museum houses a wide range of military relics of the war. Of particular significance to the 22nd Battalion is the uniform of Fred Russell, Secretary of the 22nd Battalion from 1920 to his death in 1978 that is now on permanent display.

My wife Glenda and I with family members visited the Museum in September last year and presented

Presentation “With the Twenty-Second”

Board member Michel Durand with a copy of the 22nd’s war history, “With the Twenty-Second”.

Monash Centre adjunct to the Australian War Memorial

This presentation strengthens further the bond between Villers Bretonneux and Australia ,and the 22nd Battalion in particular.

The Anzac Spirit

For young children to understand the meaning and significance of these words it is by demonstrating with appropriate objects their relevance to this statement.

Slouch hat and trench-coat on display

The East Malvern Early Learning Centre has adopted this strategy with the young children it educates. In recent years some of my great-grandchildren have attended, now Charlie. The Centre. Aware of my association with the 22nd Battalion WW1, has invited me to explain the derivation of "Anzac", and it's significance on Anzac and Remembrance Days.

The Battalion's archives have been the source of relevant objects to display. My father's Greatcoat has helped explain the extremely cold weather the soldiers had to cope with and the slouch hat with affixed Rising Sun badge is well identified with the Australian soldiers (AIF).

Simple diagrammatic maps of the countries and places the Anzacs fought, such as at Gallipoli, Turkey help the children understand the distances travelled by the soldiers and the time they were away from families, for those that returned..

Together with the children's questions these talks and displays helps them understand the hardship and danger of war, but also the values for which the Anzacs and subsequent Australian Defence Forces have made sacrifices to preserve the wonderful lifestyle we enjoy in Australia..

Member Badge

The Member Badge below can be cut-out and inserted in a plastic holder available from most Stationers. The Badge can be worn at official events.

22nd Battalion Association members at the Shrine after the 2024 Anzac Day March

PROTOCOL/GUIDELINES FOR DESCENDANTS IN ANZAC DAY MARCHES

Participating in the official March is a great privilege but brings with it the responsibility to do so with dignity and respect in memory of our "22nd" forebears in particular.

- Marchers (not young children) must be respectively dressed in accordance with the solemnity of the Commemoration March (sporting gear/footwear/torn jeans/photos are not approved).
- Descendants should wear the medals of forebears on the right breast; their own on the left.
- Marchers are to form up 6 abreast and maintain step with the Banner Bearer.
- At the Eternal Flame in the forecourt (not the official dais) "Eyes Right" will be ordered and the Battalion Banner lowered. Once past "Eyes Front" will be ordered and the Banner raised.
- Strict adherence to these reflects a commitment to remember them.
